COMMISSION ON JUDICIAL QUALIFICATIONS

2002 ANNUAL REPORT

FROM THE CHAIR

The Commission on Judicial Qualifications is charged with the duty of enforcing the high standards of conduct for judges as set forth in the Code of Judicial Conduct.

During 2002, the Commission reviewed 191 complaints, 35 of which were docketed. There were nine complaints pending from 2001.

As you are aware, the Commission now operates as two panels so that if any formal hearings become necessary, the panel investigating the complaint is not the same body that hears the evidence.

It has been our experience that the judges of this State maintain a high standard of conduct. When it becomes necessary to ask a judge to respond to a complaint, we have found that, in all most all cases, the answers have been full and complete, which assists the Commission greatly in determining disposition.

Your Commission worked many hours in revising the financial disclosure report which is due from judges annually. We recognize that the first year is going to be a major change that will result in additional time and thought being given to the report; however, the recommendations of the Commission were adopted by the Supreme Court with the feeling that the public has an interest in knowing that there is not a financial conflict between the judge and litigating parties.

As my term as chair of this Commission comes to an end, I appreciate the professionalism and high standards of conduct that the judges in our State maintain. The Clerk of the Appellate Courts, Carol Green, and her assistant, Carol Deghand, assist the process of the Commission greatly and have certainly lightened the duties of the Commission and myself as chair. We have also benefitted greatly from the support and wise counsel of Justice Fred N. Six, who served as the Commission liaison to the Supreme Court from September 1988 until his retirement in January 2003.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE COMMISSION

The Kansas Commission on Judicial Qualifications was established by the Supreme Court of the State of Kansas on January 1, 1974. The Commission, created under the authority granted by Article III, Section 15 of the Kansas Constitution and in the exercise of the inherent powers of the Supreme Court, is charged with assisting the Supreme Court in the exercise of the Court's responsibility in judicial disciplinary matters.

Originally conceived as a one-tier system with nine members, the Commission functioned effectively for a quarter century before significant change was implemented. On May 1, 1999, a two-tier system was adopted, expanding the Commission from nine to fourteen members, including six active or retired judges, four lawyers, and four non-lawyers. The members are divided into two panels. One panel meets each month. In formal matters, one panel investigates the complaint, while the other conducts the hearing, thus separating the investigative and judicial functions. All members are appointed by the Supreme Court and serve four-year terms. The Chair of the Commission chairs one panel, while the Vice-Chair chairs the second panel.

HOW THE COMMISSION OPERATES

Jurisdiction/Governing Rules

The Commission's jurisdiction extends to approximately 500 judicial positions including justices of the Supreme Court, judges of the Court of Appeals, judges of the district courts, district magistrate judges, and municipal judges. This number does not include judges pro tempore and others who, from time to time, may be subject to the Code of Judicial Conduct.

The Supreme Court Rules governing operation of the Commission are found in the Kansas Court Rules Annotated. See 2002 Kan. Ct. R. Annot. 499-552.

Staff

The Clerk of the Supreme Court serves as secretary to the Commission pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 603. The secretary acts as custodian of the official files and records of the Commission and directs the daily operation of the office. A deputy clerk, Carol Deghand, manages the operation of the office.

The Commission also retains an examiner, a member of the Kansas Bar who investigates complaints, presents evidence to the Commission, and participates in proceedings before the Supreme Court.

Initiating a Complaint

The Commission is charged with conducting an investigation when it receives a complaint indicating that a judge has failed to comply with the Code of Judicial Conduct or has a disability that seriously interferes with the performance of judicial duties.

Any person may file a complaint with the Commission. Initial inquiries may be made by telephone, by letter, or by visiting the Appellate Clerk's Office personally.

All who inquire are given a copy of the Supreme Court Rules Relating to Judicial Conduct, a brochure about the Commission, and a complaint form. The complainant is asked to set out the facts and to state specifically how the complainant believes the judge has violated the Code of Judicial Conduct. Very often, the opportunity to voice the grievance is sufficient, and the Commission never receives a formal complaint. In any given year, one-fourth to one-third of the initial inquiries will result in a complaint being filed.

The remainder of the complaints filed come from individuals already familiar with the Commission's work or who have learned about the Commission from another source.

Use of the standard complaint form is encouraged but not mandatory. If the complaint received is of a general nature, the Commission's secretary will request further specifics.

In addition to citizen complaints, the Commission may investigate matters of judicial misconduct on its own motion. Referrals are also made to the Commission through the Office of Judicial Administration and the Office of the Disciplinary Administrator.

Referrals are made through the Office of Judicial Administration on personnel matters involving sexual harassment. The Kansas Court Personnel Rules provide that, if upon investigation the Judicial Administrator finds probable cause to believe an incident of sexual harassment has occurred involving a judge, the Judicial Administrator will refer the matter to the Commission on Judicial Qualifications. See Kansas Court Personnel Rule 10.4(e).

The Disciplinary Administrator refers complaints to the Commission if investigation into attorney misconduct implicates a judge. There is a reciprocal sharing of information between the two offices.

Commission Review and Investigation

When written complaints are received, all are mailed to a panel of the Commission for review at its next meeting. In the interim, if it appears that a response from the judge would be helpful to the Commission, the secretary may request the judge to submit a voluntary response. With that additional information, the panel may be able to consider a complaint and reach a decision at the same meeting.

All complaints are placed on the agenda, and the panel determines whether they will be docketed or remain undocketed. A docketed complaint is given a number and a case file is established.

Undocketed complaints are those which facially do not state a violation of the Code; no further investigation is required.

Appealable matters constitute the majority of the undocketed complaints and arise from a public misconception of the Commission's function. The Commission does not function as an appellate court. Examples of appealable matters which are outside the Commission's jurisdiction include: matters involving the exercise of judicial discretion, particularly in domestic cases; disagreements with the judge's application of the law; and evidentiary or procedural matters, particularly in criminal cases.

Many complaints address the judge's demeanor, attitude, degree of attention, or alleged bias or prejudice. These are matters in which the secretary is likely to request a voluntary response from the judge and, based on that response, the Commission in some instances determines there has clearly been no violation of the Code.

These undocketed complaints are dismissed with an appropriate letter to the complainant and to the judge, if the judge has been asked to respond to the complaint.

Docketed complaints are those in which a panel feels that further investigation is warranted.

A panel has a number of investigative options once it docketed a complaint. Docketed complaints may be assigned to a subcommittee for review and report at the next meeting. These complaints may be referred to the Commission Examiner for investigation and report. Finally, the panel may ask for further information or records from the judge.

Disposition of Docketed Complaints

After investigation of docketed complaints, the panel may choose a course of action short of filing formal proceedings.

A complaint may be dismissed after investigation. On docketing, there appeared to be some merit to the complaint, but after further investigation the complaint is found to be without merit.

A complaint may be dismissed after investigation with caution. The panel finds no violation in the instant complaint, but the judge is cautioned to avoid such situations in the future. Cautionary letters have been issued when alcohol consumption appears problematic or when there is a strong suggestion of inappropriate personal comment.

Letters of informal advice are issued when some infraction of the Code has occurred, but the infraction does not involve a continuing course of conduct. Such letters may, for example, address isolated instances of delay, ex parte communication, or discourtesy to litigants or counsel.

A cease and desist order may be issued when the panel finds factually undisputed violations of the Code which represent a continuing course of conduct. The judge must agree to comply by accepting the order, or formal proceedings will be instituted. Examples of conduct resulting in cease and desist orders include: activity on behalf of a political candidate or intervention with a fellow judge on behalf of family or friends.

Upon disposition of any docketed complaint, the judge and the complainant are notified of the panel's action. Other interested persons may be notified within the panel's discretion.

Confidentiality

The panel assigned a complaint conducts investigations, often contacting the judge involved as well as witnesses. All complaints and investigations are, however, private and confidential unless public disclosure is permitted by the Rules Relating to Judicial Conduct or by order of the Supreme Court. See Rule 607(a). One exception to the confidentiality rule exists if the panel gives written notice to the judge, prior to the judge's acceptance of a cease and desist order, that the order will be made public. Rule 611(a).

Other narrowly delineated exceptions to the rule of confidentiality exist. Rule 607(c) provides a specific exception to the rule of confidentiality with regard to any information which the Commission or a panel considers relevant to current or future criminal prosecutions or ouster proceedings against a judge. Rule 607 further permits a waiver of confidentiality, in the Commission's or panel's discretion, to the Disciplinary Administrator, the Impaired Judges Assistance Committee, the Supreme Court Nominating Commission, the District Judicial Nominating Commissions, and the Governor with regard to nominees for judicial appointments. The Commission or a panel may also, in its discretion, make public all or any part of its files involving a candidate for election or retention in judicial office.

Formal Proceedings

During the investigation stage prior to the filing of the notice of formal proceedings, the judge is advised by letter that an investigation is underway. The judge then has the opportunity to present information to the examiner. Rule 609.

If a panel institutes formal proceedings, specific charges stated in ordinary and concise language are submitted to the judge. The judge has an opportunity to answer and a hearing date is set. Rule 611(b); Rule 613. The hearing on that notice of formal proceedings is conducted by the other panel, which has no knowledge of the investigation or prior deliberations.

The hearing on a notice of formal proceedings is a public hearing. The judge is entitled to be represented by counsel at all stages of the proceedings, including the investigative phase prior to the filing of the notice of formal proceedings if the judge so chooses. The rules of evidence applicable to civil cases apply at formal hearings. Procedural rulings are made by the chair, consented to by other members unless one or more calls for a vote. Any difference of opinion with the chair is controlled by a majority vote of those panel members present.

The Commission Examiner presents the case in support of the charges in the notice of formal proceedings. At least five members of the panel must be present when evidence is introduced. A vote of five members of the panel is required before a finding may be entered that any charges have been proven.

If the panel finds the charges proven, it can admonish the judge, issue an order of cease and desist, or recommend to the Supreme Court the discipline or compulsory retirement of the judge. Discipline means public censure, suspension, or removal from office. Rule 620.

The panel is required in all proceedings resulting in a recommendation to the Supreme Court for discipline or compulsory retirement to make written findings of fact, conclusions of law, and recommendations which shall be filed and docketed by the Clerk of the Supreme Court as a case. Rule 622. The respondent judge then has the opportunity to file written exceptions to the panel's report. A judge who does not wish to file exceptions may reserve the right to address the Supreme Court with respect to disposition of the case. Rule 623.

If exceptions are taken, a briefing schedule is set; thereafter, argument is scheduled before the Supreme Court at which time respondent appears in person and, at respondent's discretion, by counsel. If exceptions are not taken, the panel's findings of fact and conclusions of law are conclusive and may not later be challenged by respondent. The matter is set for hearing before the Supreme Court, at which time the respondent appears in person and may be accompanied by counsel but only for the limited purpose of making a statement with respect to the discipline to be imposed. In either case, the Supreme Court may adopt, amend, or reject the recommendations of the panel. Rule 623.

Two flow charts appended to this report trace the progress of a complaint before a panel of the Commission and through Supreme Court proceedings.

COMMISSION ACTIVITY IN 2002

At the close of 2002, there were 507 judicial positions subject to the Commission's jurisdiction.

Justices of the Supreme Court	7
Judges of the Court of Appeals	10
District Court Judges	160
District Magistrate Judges	74
Municipal Judges	256

Others are subject to the Code of Judicial Conduct on an ad hoc basis. The compliance statement appended to the Code provides: "Anyone, whether or not a lawyer, who is an officer of the judicial system, is a judge within the meaning of this Code. Judge is defined as: 'Any judicial officer who performs the functions of a judge in the courts of this state including Kansas Supreme Court Justices, Court of Appeals Judges, District Judges, District Magistrate Judges, and Municipal Court Judges. Where applicable, the term "judge" also contemplates Masters, Referees, Temporary Judges, Pro Tempore Judges, Part-time Judges, and Commissioners if they perform any functions of a judge in any court of this state.'" 2002 Kan. Ct. R. Annot. 526-527. No attempt has been made in this report to enumerate those individuals.

In 2002, the Commission received 375 inquiries by telephone, by letter, or by personal visit to the Clerk's Office. Of those individuals, 212 were mailed copies of the Supreme Court Rules Relating to Judicial Conduct, a complaint form, and a brochure describing the work of the Commission. Of that number, 87 responded by filing a complaint. An additional 104 complaints were received for a total of 191 complaints received in 2002. Of those complaints, 35 were eventually docketed. For a discussion of the distinction between undocketed and docketed complaints, see this report at pages 18 and 19.

The Commission disposed of 147 undocketed complaints and 33 docketed complaints in 2002.

EXAMPLES OF CONDUCT FOUND TO BE PROPER OR OUTSIDE THE COMMISSION'S JURISDICTION

No violation was found when counsel was not appointed for the father in a Child In Need of Care case because the father chose to represent himself for most of the case. At that time, there was no motion for termination of parental rights on file.

No violation was found when delay in a case was created by the defendant's inability to get along with his attorneys. Three different attorneys were appointed in the case, and the defendant refused to accept their advice and counsel.

No violation was found when a judge attempted during a hearing to hurry the attorneys along because counsel for both parties were taking a lot of time to no apparent end.

No ethical violation was found against a judge who heard the divorce case of a party whose prior criminal matter was heard by the judge. The fact that he heard a prior matter does not preclude the judge from hearing subsequent cases involving that individual, particularly when the parties do not raise the disqualification issue.

No delay was found to have occurred in a case in which resentencing occurred three months after an appellate decision was handed down because the district court did not have jurisdiction to act until the mandate issued. The lapse of time in the interim was not out of the ordinary.

No ethical violation was found to have occurred when a judge denied a news reporter access to a file the judge was using during the trial, and the reporter did not complete an open records request. Had the reporter appropriately requested access, the judge would have had three days to respond to the request.

No ethical violation was found when it was alleged a judge destroyed and tampered with the defendant's documents. The documents had been microfilmed pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 108 before being destroyed.

EXAMPLES OF CONDUCT FOUND TO BE IMPROPER

A judge was cautioned about using a court computer for private business sales transactions.

A judge was cautioned that it is a better practice to disclose a former partnership on the record when members of the firm appear before the judge.

A judge running for re-election was cautioned to adhere to Canon 5 by appointing a campaign committee even though no fund raising was involved.

A judge was cautioned to carefully review motions before signing to avoid inadvertently signing motions submitted by the judge's son who practices in that judicial district.

A judge was cautioned regarding ex parte communication about visitation schedules in a domestic case.

A judge was cautioned to avoid discussion with counsel during trial, even if the discussion is not related to the case.

A campaign letter was received by the Commission in which there was inference of personal solicitation by the candidate. The candidate was cautioned that Canon 5C(2) prohibits personal solicitation of campaign contributions.

A judge was cautioned about allowing family or social relationships to influence the judge's judicial conduct or judgment. The judge offered advice on how a friend's daughter-in-law should respond to a court order.

A judge was cautioned about being rude to a litigant in court whom the judge erroneously assumed had been drinking.

A judge was cautioned about commenting to his staff about a party in a case before him. The judge believed the remarks to have been made in private.

REPORTED JUDICIAL DISCIPLINARY CASES UNDER RULE 601

In re Rome, 218 Kan. 198, 542 P.2d 676 (1975).

In a criminal proceeding, a magistrate judge issued a memorandum decision which held the defendant out to public ridicule or scorn. The decision was, incidentally, issued in poetic form.

The Supreme Court found the conduct violated Canon 3 A. (3) which requires a judge to be "patient, dignified, and courteous to litigants, jurors, witnesses, lawyers, and others with whom he deals in his official capacity." The court ordered public censure.

In re Baker, 218 Kan. 209, 542 P.2d 701 (1975).

The Commission on Judicial Qualifications found six violations of Canon 7 arising out of advertising materials used in a campaign for judicial office.

The Supreme Court found no violation as to five charges, holding the activities to come within the pledge of faithful performance of the duties of judicial office. The court found the health, work habits, experience, and ability of the candidates to be matters of legitimate concern to the electorate. As to the sixth charge, the court found that a campaign statement by a candidate for judicial office that an incumbent judge is entitled to a substantial pension if defeated, when the judge is not in fact eligible for any pension, violates the prohibition of Canon 7 B. (1) (c) against misrepresentation of facts. The court imposed the discipline of public censure.

In re Sortor, 220 Kan. 177, 551 P.2d 1255 (1976).

A magistrate judge was found by the Commission to have been rude and discourteous to lawyers and litigants and, on occasion, to have terminated proceedings without granting interested parties the right to be heard.

The Supreme Court found violations of Canons 3 A. (3) and (4) and imposed public censure.

In re Dwyer, 223 Kan. 72, 572 P.2d 898 (1977).

The Supreme Court found violations of Canons 2 A. and 2 B. which exhort a judge to avoid impropriety and the appearance of impropriety. The court ordered public censure.

A judge of the district court was found to have demanded sexual favors of female employees as a condition of employment.

The Supreme Court found violations of Canons 1, 2 A. and 3 B. (4). Noting that the judge's retirement due to disability made suspension from duty or removal from office unnecessary, the court ordered public censure.

An associate district judge was found to lack judicial temperament as evidenced by his actions in the following regard. The judge acted in a manner that did not promote public confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the judiciary and allowed his personal views or appeared to allow his personal views on the political issue of selection of judges to influence his judicial conduct or judgment. The judge, in writing a memorandum decision, purposefully attempted to be critical of actions of the county attorney and of a fellow judge. The judge purposefully made allegations of fact and stated as conclusions factual matters that were at the time he made his statements being contested in separate criminal cases. Subsequent to making such statements, the judge purposefully and intentionally attempted to get them publicized by sending copies to the news media.

The Supreme Court found violations of Canons 1, 2 A., 3 C., 5 C. (1), 5 C. (3), and 5 C. (4) (b). The court ordered removal from office.

In re Long, 244 Kan. 719, 772 P.2d 814 (1989).
